DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-9, drawn to a method for producing mononuclear cells over-expressing IL-10.

Group II, claim(s) 10, drawn to a method for producing a pharmaceutical composition.

Group III, claim(s) 11-14, drawn to a composition comprising mononuclear cells containing an IL-10 transgene

Group IV, claim(s) 15-18, drawn to a method of treating a disease

Group V, claim(s) 19, drawn to a method of manufacturing a medicament comprising IL-10 over-expressing mononuclear cells.

The inventions listed as Groups I-V do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

Inventions I-V lack a unifying special technical feature. US patent publication US 2001/033836 A1(2001-10-25), hereafter referred to as Symonds et al., discloses , in paragraph 59, the method of present claims 1-3 comprising the steps of collecting peripheral blood, and the isolation of CD4+ cells. CD4+ cells reactive to collagen or other antigens within synovial fluid are expanded in the presence of IL-2. The gene encoding an anti-inflammatory cytokine molecule (e.g. IL-10) is then introduced into the CD4⁺ cells via a retroviral vector. The cells are then expanded and recovered before being injected into patients (see example 1 S. 59).

Since the claimed subject matter was known from the prior art document of Symonds et al., the subject matters of claims 1-19 are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept (Rule 13.1 PCT) as they appear not to be linked by a new and inventive common special technical feature in the sense of Rule 13.2 PCT by taking into account the state of the art.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement is traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
